ABOUT

Junior front-end web developer with experience in HTML, CSS, Javascript (Angular JS and jQuery) plus many of the other related facets of coding such as Git, GitHub and Photoshop. A graduate of Detroit's Grand Circus Front-End Web Development program and a constant student of technology. The skills obtained at Grand Circus allows me to work with team members to assist an organization in their web development process including; gathering information, planning, design, development, testing and delivery and maintenance. As a former Direct Caretaker, effective and clear communication is important when expressing a message. This is also true when it comes to organizations expressing themselves and their brand through the magic of front end web development. When my eyes are not glued to my text-editor, one can usually find me reading a book while sipping a cup of espresso or playing tennis.
